ALLIES APPROACH NAPLES DEFENSE

ALLIED PLANES THROW 4-WAY PUNCH AT NAZIS

Hanover Hit in Big RAF Raid and Fortresses Blast Nantes Today.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 23 — Allied [illegible] threw a quadruple [illegible] into enemy Europe with an RAF mass raid on the reich city of Hannover last night, a Flying Fortress attack on Nantes today and two U. S. Marauder assaults [illegible] into France.

All were carried out within a period of 18 hours.

The air ministry said "a very strong force" of Britain's biggest bomb carriers roared into northcentral Germany during the night to attack the important railway and factory city of Hannover. Twenty-six of the bombers were listed as lost.

Preliminary reports show that a highly concentrated attack was completed in 30 minutes, leaving very large fires with smoke rising to a great height," a ministry communique said.

Port at Emden Hit

Smaller British bomber formations attacked the port of Emden, in the extreme northwest corner of Germany, and inland Oldenburg, a big army, airforce and railroad center east of Bremen.

(Today's German communique said "Hannover and Oldenburg report casualties among the civilian population as well as considerable damage to public buildings. Antiaircraft forces shot down 21 enemy bombers.")

American Flying Fortresses, escorted by P-47 Thunderbolts, attacked naval installations at Nantes and airfields in western France a few hours after RAF heavy bombers had returned from the attack on Hannover.

U. S. Marauders, covered by swarms of allied fighters, meanwhile penetrated deep into northern France to hammer Nazi airdromes at Corches, about 60 miles west of Paris.

Long Round Trip

The attack on Nantes, an important German submarine base at the upper end of the bay of Biscay, represented a roundtrip of approximately 500 miles beeline for the Fortresses.

American headquarters, in announcing today's raid, said the Fortresses also hit airdromes at Vannes-Meucon and Kerlin-Bastard in western France.

Hannover, target of the RAF night raiders, is an important railway and manufacturing city in north-central Germany 68 miles southeast of Bremen.

Out in force for the first time since the Dunlop rubber factory at Montlucon, France, was blasted a week ago, the RAF bombarriers struck a blow at Germany's internal communications in hitting at Hannover.

Located 158 miles west of Berlin, the city, which has a population of about 472,000 stands on the east-west railroad line between Berlin and Cologne. A big locomotive works is there, and many oil tanks are in the vicinity. It was Hannover's 48th raid of the war.

COUNTY CD HOLDS TEST MOBILIZATION

Leaders Report Program Carried Out Successfully.

A surprise test mobilization of [illegible] key personnel of Marion county's civilian defense units was held last night and was pronounced successful by officials today.

The first call, the alert, came through at 7:06 p. m. and at 7:25 the control center was manned and ready for work. The all clear signal came through at 7:36. The personnel was mobilized entirely by phone and the air raid sirens were not used.

Officials reported that the test at LaRue was also successful. Eighteen out of twenty members were at their posts shortly after the alert was sounded. Green Camp, Caledonia, Prospect and Morral area leaders also were in the test alert.

Summer Passes Out at 6:12 P. M. Today

Summer of 1943 will pass into history when the hands of the clock get around to 6:12 this evening and Miss Autumn will take her place in the calendar spotlight.

With autumn's arrival the lawnmower will relinquish its place to the rake in the schedule of farm chores, pumpkin pie will have a place all on the menu and last year's overcoats will come out of the mothballs. Winter will be just around the corner and Miss Autumn will be grooming herself for her debut.

COUNTY OFFICE EMPLOYE HURT

Harold Lauer Wounded in Hunting Accident; Shot Pierces Eyeball.

Harold Lauer, 41, of 340 Summit street, an instrument man in charge of a survey crew for the county engineer's office, was accidently wounded in a hunting accident near Gallipolis Monday morning, and is undergoing treatment for injuries that include a pierced eyeball.

He was to be moved this morning in the Edwin K. Smith ambulance from Holzer hospital at Gallipolis to University hospital in Columbus where an eye specialist was to examine his most serious wound.

The accident happened about two miles west of Dexter, a town about 30 miles north of Gallipolis, while he and N. W. Luellen of 1111 East Center street, chief deputy in the county engineer's office, were hunting together. The two men and their wives had set up camp a week before on the Carl Hill farm, and had spent most of the week hunting.

Account of Accident

Monday, the day before they had planned to break camp, they started out hunting again, taking separate routes through the heavy woods and underbrush. They heard each other shooting occasionally, at one time worked rather close to each other, and then separated again. Mr. Lauer apparently traveled in a wide are and was somewhat to the west of Mr. Luellen, who said this morning he had thought Mr. Lauer was a considerable distance to the east of him when the accident happened.

Mr. Lauer was about 150 feet away from Mr. Luellen at the time of the accident when the latter fired from the tip of a ridge at a squirrel down the side of a ridge. Mr. Lauer, concealed by the underbrush, was in the line of fire.

Hit by Part of Charge

Only part of the charge of the 12-gauge shotgun Mr. Luellen was using struck Mr. Lauer. Most of those that hit him lodged in his right shoulder, a few hit his right knee, one or two hit his chin and one stray pellet, possibly deflected by a twig in the heavy underbrush, struck the right eyeball and pierced it.

Although suffering from shock, Mr. Lauer was able, with the assistance of Mr. Luellen, to walk about a mile and a half to their camp and then drove his automobile, along with Mr. Luellen, to the nearby home of Ralph Swan, who then drove both men to the Gallipolis hospital. Mr. Swan later brought Mr. and Mrs. Luellen back to Marion and is now at the Glenn Russell home at 400 Thompson street.

The two families had camped and hunted at the same spot a year ago.

Officials Use Novel Method of Contacting Kent Division Employes.

Marion officials of the Erie railroad, in charge of the Kent division of the Erie system, this week went to unusual lengths to seek cooperation of all of the railroad's workers in this division in the Third War Loan campaign.

In the brightly-decorated inspection car pictured herewith, a group of Erie officials from Marion headed by V. J. McMullen, division superintendent, started out Monday on a tour of the entire division. The red, white and blue car attracted widespread attention as it went along the line, and employes were urged by the group to do their utmost in the war bond drive as they gathered around the car at its various stopping points.

The group was to finish its tour of the Kent division yet this week with a trip to Dayton scheduled as the windup.

County war bond officials, in announcing the Erie campaign plan, especially praised the declaration of Mr. McMullen that "You have to call personally on your prospects if you want to sell bonds." They urged that other workers throughout the "duration organization" set up to handle war bond drives adopt that statement as their personal drive slogan.

Kent division department heads accompanied Mr. McMullen on the tour, and the first trip, beginning Monday, was made to Kent.

The car in which they traveled is a motor-driven division inspection car. In addition to its patriotic colors, applied for its use in the war bond drive, it carried the Third War Loan slogan in large letters, "Back the Attack — Buy War Bonds."

Australians Go Ashore Near Finschhafen, 60 Miles Above Fallen Lae.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 23 — Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today the seaborne landing of Australian troops above Finschhafen, enemy base 60 miles northeast of Lae on the New Guinea coast, and the destruction of remnants of a Japanese garrison on Arundel island in the Solomons.

Under protection of warships and planes, the Australians went ashore against enemy opposition at dawn Wednesday just below the Song river. At dusk on the previous day, Japanese bombers and fighters sought to attack ships involved in the operations but were intercepted between Lae and Finschhafen by P-40s which shot down four bombers and five fighters at a cost of one interceptor.

MOVIE TROUPE TO STAY TILL SATURDAY

That's Latest Word Following Series of Delays.

Although Actress June Haver today returned to work at the Marion county fairgrounds, where scenes for the technicolor production, "Home in Indiana," are being filmed, a spokesman for the Twentieth Century-Fox location company said it was not expected that the troupe would complete the Marion phase of the picture before Saturday.

Originally the group was to leave Marion this morning for Lexington, Ky., where more than 80 employes of the Fox studios will remain on location nearly a month.

The Marion phase of the picture was delayed considerably by the illness of Miss Haver, one of the picture's featured players, and continued weather conditions unfavorable for technicolor photography.

Cameramen yesterday filmed a large number of scenes along the race track in which Walter Brennan, Jeanne Crain, George Reed and Willie Best, plus scores of Marion "extras," appeared.

Today's schedule called for shooting additional track scenes, a number of racing scenes and grandstand scenes in which Charles Dingle, Jeanne Crain, June Haver and Robert Condon appear.

"Meanest Thief" Takes Soldier Cigaret Fund

Burglary sank to a new low level in Marion yesterday when a "meanest thief," in the course of looting the Shamrock Cafe at 494 West Center street, took a container holding between $6 and $10 for a soldier cigaret fund.

Other missing articles were three quarts of gin, 12 bottles of wine, $5 from the cash drawer, some stamps and a flashlight. Entrance was gained through a rear door. A bar found in the back room apparently was used to force the door.

COUNTY ON WAY TO 4 MILLION WAR LOAN GOAL

New Target Announced After Self-Set $3,500,000 Quota Is Passed.

Marion county passed its self-set goal of $3,500,000 when yesterday's sales in the Third War Loan drive amounted to $136,958.

This gave the county a new total of $3,364,268.25 or 126 per cent of its official quota of $2,829,000.

R. E. White, campaign chairman, called on drive workers this morning to "make it $4,000,000" by the end of the month.

"I realize this is the second new quota we've set after breaking our original quota, but there's far more at stake than just reaching goals," he declared.

"The more bonds we sell this month the quicker we're going to rush supplies to our men to shorten the war. Let's don't stop at any quota—let's push this drive just as far as it will go.

No Right to Slow Down

"Again I want to urge every drive worker and every prospective purchaser not to slow down just because we're over the top," the chairman declared. "We've no more right to slow down now than our soldier in Italy, because they too are reported by their commanders to be ahead of schedule. Let's continue to back them up with every possible dollar."

One of the highlights of yesterday's activities was the public war bond auction staged in front of the Universal Cooler Corp. last night with visiting movie stars helping sell war bonds. An account of the special auction, credited with raising $177,530, cash value of bonds sold, appears elsewhere in today's Star.

Rural Reports Arriving

Among the first reports received from the rural areas, where favorable progress is being reported after a somewhat slow start, was one this morning from Wallace Beckel of Richland township, who said he called on 52 prospects and returned with bond orders from 48.

Meanwhile, the latest issue of the Area 1 bond bulletin this morning showed that Marion continued to set the pace in the 26-county area with 116.8 per cent of its goal raised as of Tuesday night. Trumbull and Cuyahoga counties were the only others, along with Marion, to be over their quotas. In fourth place was Medina with 81 per cent of its quota raised, Crawford was fifth with 78.8 per cent. Richland was ninth with 63.6 per cent, Morrow twenty-second with 37.9 per cent.

Yesterday's business included 607 sales of E bonds totaling $39,862.50, and brought the E bond totals up to 7,023 purchasers and $458,768.25.

Heaviest sales yesterday were in Treasury 2 per cent bonds, with $110,000 reported. Other sales included $4,500 in Series G, $4,595.50 in Series F and $1,000 in Treasury 2½.

Soviet Troops Storming Into White Russia in Gomel Sector

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 23—The Moscow radio said today that Soviet troops are storming into White Russia in the Gomel sector, shortly after a German announcement that Nazi forces have abandoned Poltava, gateway to the heart of the Ukraine.

The Moscow announcement, which quoted the newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the presidium of the supreme council, was recorded by Reuters.

Gomel, in the area where the new break-through was announced, is a rail center about midway between Kiev and Smolensk, within a pair 15 miles of the Dnieper river and within 140 miles of the old Polish border.

The advancing Red army, swinging forward along the entire Dnieper river front, was within clear view of the river along which the Germans are believed to have their main defenses on Russia, front line dispatches said.

Advance guards of the Soviets are within five miles from the Dnieper at some points with powerful Red army forces closing in methodically on the two Nazi bastions of Kiev and Smolensk.

There was an atmosphere of expectancy in Moscow, with some of the greatest victories of the war appearing to be at hand.

Poltava, a city of 90,000, lies on the Vorskla river in the Ukraine, and is the control center of a network of railways radiating to Kharkov, Kiev, Kremenchug and Unepropetrovsk. Poltava was captured by the Nazi Sept. 20, 1941, in their first powerful drive across Russia.

City Isolated

The city was isolated yesterday when Red army forces stormed the town of Dikanka, 15 miles to the north, and Golovach, six miles to the south. The German broadcast said Nazi troops destroyed all military installations in Poltava before they continued their retreat westward toward the Dnieper.

The Berlin radio said in a noonday news bulletin the center of gravity had shifted to southeast of Smolensk, the German central front bastion.

There, the Germans reported, the Red army was storming at Nazi positions with strong infantry and tank forces.

Bloody fighting was said to be raging west of Yelnya, some 40 miles southeast of Smolensk and in the Demidov region, 42 miles northwest of the key center.

Kiev, Russia's fourth largest city and keystone of the German defense wall on the Dnieper, was menaced from three directions as Red army forces continued to roll up victory after victory along the flaming 750-mile front.

Bloody Battle

Demidov, 42 miles northeast of Smolensk, was stormed by the Russians yesterday after one of the most sanguinary battles of the Soviet summer drive. Its capture, after two days of bitter fighting, elicited a special order of the day from Premier Joseph Stalin, who called the northern bastion "one of the strongest German defense centers."

SALES TAX UP

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 23—Sales tax collections for the week ended Sept. 11 totaled $971,893, an increase of $100,031 over the corresponding period last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported today. Collections from Jan. 1 to Sept. 11 totaled $37,471,415, a gain of $1,103,750 over last year.

Universal Cooler First Plant Reported Over Quota in Drive

Public Auction Puts Employes Well Beyond Goal; Movie Stars Help in $146,885 Event.

The Universal Cooler Corp., one of Marion's relatively new industries, last night became the first sizeable industrial unit in Marion to report meeting and exceeding its quota in the Third War Loan.

As a result of a bond auction in front of the company's Joseph street offices last night, the company more than trebled its Third War Loan quota of $50,000. Directly as a result of the auction, $146,885 in bonds, including a $100,000 purchase made by Treasurer Edward A. Langwish for the corporation, was turned in. The auction figure represents the purchase price of bonds, not the maturity value.

Previous to the climactic auction, a drive among the firm's more than 800 employes resulted in the purchase or subscription of nearly $31,000 worth of bonds. All told, $177,530 in bonds have been purchased by the company and its employes.

Movie Stars Help

Assisting enthusiastically with last night's auction, in charge of Auctioneer P. E. Williams, were five members of the Twentieth Century-Fox location company in Marion to film scenes for "Home in Indiana," a $4,000,000 technicolor production [illegible] harness horse. Among the movie makers present were Actors Charles Dingle, for many years a leading character actor on Broadway, Robert Condon and Noble "Kid" Chissell. Other members of the troupe on hand were Hal Roach Jr., second assistant director, and Casey Shawhan, Twentieth Century-Fox publicity man traveling with the troupe.

The Third War Loan Drive is the third consecutive bond-selling promotion in which Universal Cooler has exceeded its assigned quota by a comfortable margin. In the June Buy a Bomber drive, the concern topped its $15,000 quota by $6,000 and in the Second War Loan campaign exceeded another $15,000 quota by $2,000.

Committee Workers

A committee composed of 22 employes directed the Third War Loan campaign within the organization. The general committee was divided into two units, a force of eight employes for the office and a considerably larger unit for the canvass among factory workers. Captain of the office team was Ralph Shurk, lieutenants and solicitors for the office included Katherine Burke, Ada Carter, Jack Danner, Dean Emerson, Ed C. Walters, Danny

CALL BARUCH AGAIN ON DRAFT

White House Advisor Returns To Continue Testimony Today.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—Bernard M. Baruch, unofficial White House adviser, was called back before the senate military committee for an elaboration of his views on manpower today amid increasing evidence that administration leaders had rallied sufficient strength to shelve the Wheeler bill to postpone the draft of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

Baruch gravely advised the committee yesterday to put its faith in the Army big command on the basis of what it has thus far accomplished in the war—and let the command have what it says it needs to complete the task.

Fortified by the Army general staff's assertion that 7,700,000 men must be in uniform by Dec. 31 to insure victory, opponents of the Wheeler measure appeared confident they could either smother the bill when it comes up next Tuesday or bang it back to the military affairs committee, there to languish and die.

Meanwhile a million fathers with low order numbers awaited the calls which their draft boards will begin sending out in October to pick the 440,000 family heads selective service officials say must be inducted by the first of the year. Rejections in this class have been running about 50 per cent.

Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the war industries board in World War I and unofficial advisor to President Roosevelt now told congress yesterday that if the Army needs married men it ought to have them.

Annual Tag Sale for Free Clinic Starts Tomorrow

Mrs. John W. Jacoby, president of the Marion Parent-Teacher council and chairman in charge of arrangements for the annual tag sale, announced that plans have been completed for the council's 1943 drive for funds for the free clinic and dispensary at City hospital tomorrow and Saturday. About 125 women will sell the tags in downtown Marion from 12 noon to 9 p. m. tomorrow and from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. Saturday.

The council is one of three Marion organizations which contribute yearly to the clinic's support. The clinic serves persons not able to pay for medical attention for their own families.

Medical treatment, dental corrections, fitting of glasses, and even minor operations are provided at the clinic, where many of the patients are school children. In addition to the general clinic there is a venereal disease clinic. Mrs. Florence Coffman is clinic secretary.

During the year ending Sept. 1, 2,913 persons were treated in the clinic's five departments, and 2,792 visits to the venereal clinic.

HEAVY NAVAL BLOWS PROMISED BY KING

(Picture on Page 14)

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 23—Shattering blows against the enemy "with all weapons that can be brought to bear, synchronized and coordinated with overwhelming assault," constitute the aim of the Navy, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet, asserted today.

He told the national convention of the American Legion that attacks recently carried out with great damage upon Japanese positions on the Marcus and Gilbert islands in the South Pacific are only "the shape of things to come."

King emphasized throughout his prepared address the importance of the Navy's swiftly growing air arm now striking hard at enemy

NAZIS CONTINUE DEMOLITION OF ITALIAN CITY

Allied Troops Near Enough To Hear Explosions of Systematic Wrecking.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 23 — Allied headquarters announced advances of 10 to 15 miles in central and southern sectors of Italy today in a forward sweep which was gradually forcing Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring to uncover the inland approaches to smoke-smothered, dynamite-shattered Naples.

Victorious French soldiers and American Rangers pressed the Germans back further into the northeastern corner of Corsica while allied air forces bomb and machinegunned Nazi ships seeking to remove escaping Nazis from the evacuation port of Bastia.

Allied soldiers were within sight and sound of the systematic wrecking of Naples by German demolition squads.

As the sound of frequent explosions from the smoking city rolled over the hills toward the Americans and British, allied headquarters announced that the Germans had scuttled at least 30 ships at Naples and blocked practically every berth along the docks.

Dock Area Burning

"Fires have been burning along the docks for several days, apparently as the result of demolitions," said the announcement which was based on aerial reconnaissance. "Charges were seen to burst along the docks."

Aerial photographs also showed a large industrial area north of the docks had been wrecked by bombings and the railroad yards demolished.

"The extent to which this is going on indicates the enemy is determined to make the big port, one of the largest and best peacetime harbors in Europe, completely useless to allied troops when they occupy it," the announcement stated.

(The German communique today admitted "a dent made by the enemy in our positions near Contursi" but claimed the break was "cleaned up in counter-attacks." The enemy has brought up fresh forces in the eastern sector of the front without, however, so far commencing an attack."

(Contursi is between Acerno and Avigliano and apparently somewhat to the rear of the new allied line).

(The BBC in a broadcast recorded by NBC, said the American Fifth army had captured Contursi, 28 miles southeast of Salerno.)

North and northeast of Salerno the Germans were putting up a stiff and stubborn battle on the direct, shortline route to Naples and little advance was made.

Waiting for Next Blow

"With the first phase of the battle of Italy, which took place at Salerno, over, both our forces and the Germans are in the same positions as boxers sitting on the corner preparing for the next round," a military spokesman said.

He explained that both sides were regrouping for the next blow.

Meanwhile the northwest African air forces held to their task of mopping up Nazi communications leading to the Naples area, with Mitchells, Marauders and Invaders striking at bridges, road junctions and moving transport.

German forces defending Naples withdrew further to the north yesterday under the continuing pressure of the allied armies, which captured the town of Avigliano, 60 miles east of Salerno, allied headquarters announced.

In addition to Avigliano, the towns of Ginosa and Acerno were captured. Ginosa is an inland town 25 miles northeast of Taranto on the Italian heel and apparently fell to British forces.

Cecil Brown To Make Last CBS Broadcast

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—Cecil Brown, Columbia Broadcasting System news commentator, will make his last CBS broadcast tomorrow night because he said he could not subscribe to what he called the network's policy of "non-opinionated" news.

In announcing his resignation, he said the action resulted from an Aug. 25 broadcast in which he asserted that "a good deal of enthusiasm for this war is evaporating into thin air."

He said Paul W. White, CBS news editor, objected to the broadcast terming it "nothing but an editorial . . . defeatist talk . . . statement of what Cecil Brown thought." The commentator countered that he made his statements on the basis of a nationwide [illegible]

Girls Aid War Effort

Not to be outdone by their fighting brothers, the four Lightburn girls are all busy in the war effort. Jacqueline Lightburn will serve with the United States Navy upon her graduation from the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps. Another nurse in the family is Mrs. Helen Lightburn Boecher, while Sara Lightburn Snyder and Virginia Lightburn are serving the Pennsylvania railroad as clerks at Crestline—Sara in the maintenance of way department and Virginia in the station ticket office. Sara's husband is a naval officer. Also serving the railroad in Crestline ticket office is Nancy Ellen Lightburn, wife of Lt. Willis Lightburn.

Engineman Jim Lightburn well knows the vital importance of railroad transportation in the present conflict, for he has served in the locomotive cab for 40 years and was at the throttle hauling men and equipment during World War I. He now pilots The Ohioan Limited and The Metropolitan on their runs between Crestline and Pittsburgh.

CORN NEEDS 2 WEEKS WITHOUT FROST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The weather bureau said yesterday the mid-western corn belt needs two more weeks of frostless weather to ensure the prospective bumper corn crop against extensive damage.

Two weeks ago the federal crop reporting board forecast a corn yield of 2,982,000,000 bushels — the second largest on record — but added that, due to the fact that much of the crop was planted late it would need good maturing weather.

The bureau said that frosts were reported during the past week in northern portions of the corn belt but the damage was not great.

Next year's production levels of hogs, cattle, milk, eggs and poultry will be governed in a large measure by the final outturn of the corn crop, because pre-war feed surpluses have been virtually exhausted.

Marion Sergeant One of First in Invasion of Kiska

A Marion boy, Sgt Anthony J Chontos, was a member of the first spearhead troop to land on the island of Kiska. He is the son of Mr and Mrs Albert Chontos of 532 Oak street.

Sgt Chontos, in relating his experiences yesterday while on a furlough, said none still has troop, composed of Canadians and Americans, left Ft. Ethan Allen, Vermont June 20 and [illegible] reached there Sept. [illegible] days in Kiska the troop was stationed on other islands including Segula, 22 miles from Kiska and Adak, 172 miles from Kiska.

He said: "We were supposed to drop by parachute on the island, but the weather was too foggy so we crossed by rubber boats. We expected to find some opposition on the beach but surprisingly, we found none whatever. The Japs must have left the day before when we came in the back door."

In the 22 days of travel Sgt Chontos said the troop did not participate in any actual combat.

Sgt Chontos, who has been in the Army for almost two years received his training at Ft Wadsworth Henry Hall on Mott, and Camp Roberts, Calif., before going to Ft Ethan Allen. He left last night to return to the Vermont fort.

Prior to entering the Army, Sgt Chontos was an employe of the Kelly Dairy Co for two years. He attended St Mary High school and was a Marion Star carrier five years.

JAPS WORK TO RALLY FIGHTING SPIRIT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept 23—Tokyo broadcasts today, the office of war information said, indicate Jap propagandists have begun an intensive campaign to rally their people behind the newly announced program to mobilize the nation's fighting spirit.

The controlled Tokyo press, automatically reacting to the program laid down by Premier Hideki Tojo in a radio speech yesterday, issued simultaneous appeals to the Japanese people to back up the government, the broadcasts disclosed.

Stress was laid on Tojo's demand that the nation's labor power be mobilized to the utmost and that the airplane and munitions output be increased.

In his radio speech the Japanese premier announced that unnecessary government offices, factories, schools and civilians would be evacuated from Tokyo and other large cities as a precaution against expected air raids.

Tojo, according to the OWI recording of a Domei dispatch, warned the Japanese people that the United States and Britain are "persistently attempting to counter-attack us with the intention of overwhelming imperial Japan . . by overcoming every possible difficulty," and that "the war situation is gaining in ferocity day by day."

Fog Causes Accident, Marion Driver Hurt

Robert J. Metzger, 19, of 242 Chestnut street suffered minor injuries in an automobile accident south of Green Camp Tuesday night, the state highway patrol reported today.

The patrol said that Metzger, driving an auto owned by Wilbert M. Rowland of 199 Leader street, because of a heavy fog failed to notice a roadside marker indicating a dead-end road. As a result, he drove into a deep ditch.

He was taken to the Marion City hospital for treatment.

BOYS GIVEN TERMS

KENTON—Five Kenton boys, ranging in age from 13 to 15 years, today started terms in the boys' industrial school at Lancaster after admitting a number of crimes to Juvenile Judge G B DeWitt. In addition to pleading guilty to automobile theft on which charge they were arraigned, the quintet admitted complicity in two other motor vehicle thefts, a house burglary in Lima and many minor thefts, the court said.

GALION—A daughter was born Wednesday at Galion City hospital to Mr and Mrs Myron Stowe. Mrs Stowe is the former Dorothy Vossers.

Double-Yolk Eggs Not Unusual at Wharton

Oregon is not the only state that produces hens worthy of medals if such were awarded for adding to the nation's food supply. So thinks Mrs. Ellsworth Kear of 744 East Center street, after she read an item from Portland in Tuesday night's Star concerning a flock which had provided a number of double-yolked eggs among a dozen bought there.

Mrs. Kear's husband, Ellsworth Kear, who is employed in the bank at Wharton, brought home recently from a poultry house there two dozen eggs which included 11 with double yolks. These are not the only double-yolked eggs brought from there, she said. They have obtained such eggs a number of times. The eggs are not over size, she commented, and was thankful the dealer does not charge extra for them.

Buy Clinic Tags and Save Lives

ONE of Marion's most important annual fund raising activities is scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday and we wish to do all we can to help assure its success.

It is the annual sale of tags to raise money necessary for maintenance of the City hospital's free clinic and dispensary. The sponsoring agency of the sale is the City Parent-Teacher association council, one of the local groups chiefly responsible for upkeep and operation of the clinic.

The clinic's value to the community is well known to persons who have lived here over a period of years. There may be new residents not acquainted with this most essential public service agency, and to them this comment is especially directed. The clinic provides free service to Marion families that otherwise would not be financially able to obtain such expert counsel and treatment. In past years great numbers of such families have been aided and beyond question lives have been saved and children rescued from years of suffering and disability through ministrations of the clinic.

Doctors and nurses contribute their time and services to its operation.

In order that this humanitarian service may be continued without curtailment, the tag sale set for the next two days is one of the methods adopted to obtain needed funds for supplies and equipment.

Response in past years has been generous and the expectation is that it will be even more so on this occasion. It should be, for Marion's population has increased and the need for the clinic's service is greater than ever.

Have these facts in mind when you are in the city's downtown area the next two days and we feel certain you will make a liberal contribution in return for one of the "life-saving" tags.

Fighting Frenchmen

THE return of France to World war II, a promise born in the battle of Tunis and fulfilled in the action against the Germans on Corsica, is a good omen for the rehabilitation of the French republic. At last Frenchmen have the privilege of fighting their common enemy, instead of each other.

The unity they must achieve before France can live again may be found in battle. As they go back home with an army that Prime Minister Churchill says is expected to reach a total of 400,000, they are the nucleus of the new France that will rise from the ashes of the debacle in 1940.

Meanwhile the Italians are demonstrating in many small ways that they are learning to think of themselves as allies, instead of as a conquered people. In the German satellite countries and in the neutral nations, the line of separation between the minorities that sided with the Axis and the majorities that always secretly hoped for its defeat is growing sharper.

Throughout Europe the omen for rehabilitation is good. The return of France to the war against Germany—not merely as a government-in-exile but as an effectual fighting force—is some of the worst news that Hitler, his generals and their military backers have heard since they lost the war in Russia.

Closing the Siege

SLOWLY at first, rapidly now, the war in Europe is changing from a struggle for outposts to a closing of the siege on Germany.

All military motion is toward the heart of the military power that exploded four years ago and covered all Europe with German soldiers, German influence and German terrorism.

United States, British and French power is surging toward Germany from the south. Beneath a cover of air power, the Allies are stabbing eastward from England. Russia, meanwhile, is continuing to close in from the east. Germany is blockaded by sea, air and land. Its distant outposts have been overcome; its security belt on the continent is under heavy pressure. Planes can reach it almost at will.

The war has reverted to the touch-and-go stage of three years ago when almost anything seemed possible. Each day's news, instead of being complete in itself, seems only the prevue for more momentous news tomorrow, the infallible sign of a turning point in military developments. Allied invasion barges are crowded in the English channel, just as German barges were massed there in the fall of 1940. Allied planes are softening the opposite coastline and the airfields which Germany must use to resist invasion. Great events have taken place—greater than reasonably could have been expected a year ago—and even greater ones are imminent.

So They Say—

I thought the majority of women should be trusted to be in favor of peace, temperance and child welfare. But a regular technique for fooling the public has been developed since the last war.—Alice Stone Blackwell, 86-year-old women's suffrage leader.

It is time for the people of this country to realize that we are straining our resources to fight this war, and if we are to have a return to economic health it must be by the orthodox way of work and save.—W. Linn Hemingway, former president American Bankers' association.

News Behind the News

Paul Mallon Defends Earlier Opinions Regarding Post-War Agreements.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—Mr. Robert L. M. Parks, editor, Augusta Chronicle

Dear Mr. Parks:

I liked your open letter criticizing my post war views, and appreciate the statement that you are sorry by reason of [illegible] frank and outspoken free of isolationist fervor."

At any rate I can agree with you thoroughly in the final thought expressed in your letter:

"This is the time for straight speaking and straight thinking, no one needs pull his punches or hide his opinions in enforced silence."

In that spirit I would like to ask the position which you have taken. You hold that if we keep our armaments, we express distrust of the rest of the world and that we should go into the peace conference in an open hearted manner, and if we fail to, we will promote war.

Not Matter of Distrust

I do not distrust the other people of the world. I know them as I see them expressing themselves in their actions, and I do not consider them much different from the Americans I see around me, as far as their human instincts are concerned. Everyone here and abroad wants to get ahead himself, advance his position, or at least make it secure to the utmost of his ability. So do all nations.

You say:

"We should not like to go to the world bargain counter to engage in trade wyith a pistol protruding from our hip pocket," adding, "we would promote another war by our very arrogance and pistol-toting proclivities."

No one in this country wants to go swaggering in quite that way, although if anyone else is going to have pistols there, or near, we would, of course, want the biggest, nearest.

But the presence of a pistol does not mean war. The Augusta citizen who has one in his home does not keep it there to start a war.

Laying pistols aside, where did you get the idea that the world peace table is going to be a bargain counter? Bargain for whom? I have not heard of anyone offering to give anything away. I have not heard of even any cut rates being offered.

That peace table will not be as you describe it. Statesmen don't carry either pistols or bargains to international conferences.

That peace table actually will be more like a business conference table in this country. Around it will be gathered highly competitive statesmen in charge of the governments of the world, dealing in the biggest business in the world, each trying to get ahead of the other.

No business man goes into such a competitive business conference in Augusta or Washington in an open-hearted, big-handed way. If he does, he knows he will soon lose his shirt and cease to be a business man. If he tried it, you would wonder how he ever got to the position he occupies.

Russian, British View

The thing that gets me is that you never hear the Russians or British urging such an attitude on their statesmen. Generally, right now, you hear their people or statesmen complaining because they are not getting enough from us.

But let us blind ourselves to that and assume, as you erroneously might, that everyone came to the next conference as you want us to be, at least as far as armaments are concerned. Have you forgotten so soon what happened at Pearl Harbor? And to France?

The Japs came to our disarmament conference all the while hiding pistols under the bed at home. Hitler had so many pistols buried so deep that neither France, Britain, nor America had the slightest idea of his massive superiority (and incidentally, he himself did not begin to know the size of the hidden Russian armaments, as his generals, and, in fact, our own, thought Russia could be conquered in 60 to 90 days.)

How This War Started

Trust? This war started with secret armaments in a world which we thought was policed securely by the democratic fleets. We nearly lost because we were caught flat-footed on that erroneous ground.

You say my ideas would "withdraw us into a sort of armed isolation, arming ourselves strongly, taking possession of a chain of outlying bases, and settling back behind our fortress to enjoy a long and definite era of peace and concord."

I do not want to withdraw anywhere. I merely want to profit by our mistakes which should be fresh in our minds.

The bases are absolutely essential for our protection. Everyone knows that. Therefore, we must have them.

We already have leases on a few of them. We cannot afford to lease our security from others any more than we can depend on a navy of battleships leased from others.

A nation can survive in this world only if it is strong morally, economically, and militarily. The stronger we are in all these ways, the better.

CARL SANDBURG

NO American writing today swings more easily (or more naturally) from epic grandeur to cracker barrel philosophy than Carl Sandburg. It has been his peculiar province to be at once a major poet and a man of humor—they very seldom go together, those two gifts. This valuable tendency was least well exemplified in Mr. Sandburg's vast Lincoln biography, and it perhaps is best shown in the book he publishes this week.

This is a book of scraps called "Home Front Memo." What gave the Lincoln books their least desirable feature, to wit, their tendency to move in all directions at once, gives "Home Front Memo" its point. This is a book made up of flashes. What Sandburg thought on the days the bits were written is caught, and as often happens, the result is a curious unity.

The book begins with a few pieces on Lincoln, written at various times for various outlets. There follows another section of radio (and face-to-face) lectures, some short and some not so short. The greater part of the book is given over to a wide selection from Mr. Sandburg's columns, there are a few poems, and the last pages are devoted to reproductions of the now well known "Road to Victory" exhibit.

I think the author values his work better than an outsider could, in this case. "It did not then follow," he writes in a personal note having to do with the Chicago Times, for which his column is written, "that a watch-tower arose shedding light over the national scene, bringing order out of confusion. The result rather was a Portrait of a Man in a Fog, at times, or again the piece of writing offered represented the best lucid memorandum occurring to the writer for that particular week-end moment of time."

This is exactly true, with the addition that Mr. Sandburg hits more often than he misses. Mr. Sandburg has soaked up so much of Lincoln that a little oozes out of him all the time.

"VALLEY OF THE SHADOW"

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Sept. 23, 1933.

Marion made final arrangements to be host the following Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to an expected 1,000 delegates to the annual state conventions of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters. M. L. Wilson was chairman of the local Knights convention committee.

Donald Williamson of Bellefontaine avenue and John Pickerel of Forest street had resumed their studies as sophomores at Miami university at Oxford.

John Dillinger, alias John Hall, 30, was arrested at Dayton and held as a suspect in the robbery of the Citizens' bank at Cardington on the morning of July 14. His name at that time was a comparatively minor one, but in subsequent years it became a symbol for banditry and he was perhaps the first fugitive to be designated by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, as "Public Enemy No. 1." Dillinger was identified at Dayton by E. M. Willits, cashier of the robbed Cardington bank, as one of five men who escaped with $8,000 after binding the cashier with adhesive tape. He was later identified in connection with a series of holdups reaching over several states. Dillinger later escaped from authorities at Lima, killing the sheriff there as he made away. His notorious career ended when he was shot to death by G-men in a street battle outside a Chicago theater after authorities had been tipped off by a "woman in red" Dillinger was believed to have jilted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Price of Olney avenue left for Chicago to spend the week-end at the World's fair.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ulsh of East Church street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Sept. 23, 1923.

Mt. Zion Baptist church congregation dedicated its new edifice on Senate street. The services were conducted by Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of Trinity Baptist church.

J. H. Evans retained his title as golf champion of Marion Country club by defeating T. R. Allen in the 36-hole finals of the club championship tournament.

The Upper Sandusky Reds scored their second victory of the season over the Marion baseball team in a game at Lincoln park. The score was 4-2. Noel pitched for Upper Sandusky and McQuillen for Marion.

J. A. White, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, gave a talk at the First Presbyterian church on the subject, "Law Enforcement."

Fire Taxis

Taxi drivers are playing an important part in San Francisco's fire defense setup. Through an arrangement with a local taxi company, cabs have been equipped so a 500-gallon pumping unit mounted on a two-wheel trailer can be whisked to places where needed.

Mobilization of taxi drivers as emergency "firemen," is but one phase of a program which has brought about a 10-fold increase in the city's fire-fighting capacity. Municipal officials, who term San Francisco "a city of wood," say such preparation is necessary to meet an emergency.

It was necessary to find other means of transportation for many pumping units. The city's civil defense council appealed to the public for small trucks, and hundreds of offers were received.

The port of San Francisco shipped out more war supplies than all other United States' ports combined for several months during the spring and summer of 1942.

Today and Tomorrow

Reports of British Seeking To Have Marshall Kicked Upstairs Ridiculed.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THERE is ground for honest difference of judgment about the best use to make of Gen. Marshall but there is none for the charge that he is the victim of a conspiracy to demote him, remove him, or kick him upstairs.

Even if we choose to disregard what is known to all who know anything about the conduct of the war, that Gen. Marshall is trusted and admired on both sides of the Atlantic, even if we disregard the authoritative fact that the suggestion of his command came first from American and not from British sources, and has still to be approved in London, even then the charge is inherently absurd.

The charge is that Mr. Churchill is proposing to get rid of Gen. Marshall by placing him in command from England of the decisive military operation of the war.

Of this operation the prime minister said on Tuesday that it would be "the bloodiest portion—make no mistake about that—the bloodiest portion of this war for Great Britain and the United States."

Ridiculous Talk

How can anyone imagine that the British would wish to invest Gen. Marshall with the direct responsibility for such a campaign if they wished to get rid of him? Did anyone ever hear of a plot to remove a general by giving him the supreme command in the decisive battle?

The exact question of Gen. Marshall's role in the next phase of the war cannot be discussed fully in public because it must obviously be related to the strategical plans which are a military secret. But certain fundamentals of the question are known. Foremost among them we must note that, while Gen. Marshall has been talked about for the supreme command ever since we entered the war, the question did not become real until after the Quebec conference.

Why after Quebec? Because our victories in the Mediterranean and the great Russian offensive had brought us last month to a phase of the war where it was possible and necessary to make the conclusive strategical plans for the defeat of Germany and for the main campaign against Japan. These plans were made at Quebec. Once the strategical commitments had been made, it was then an open question whether the chief of staff in Washington would not become subsidiary to the generalissimo in the field.

In the defensive and preparatory phase of the war it was obvious that the great decisions had to be taken in Washington. Now it is most likely that the great decisions will be those of the commanders who execute the plans which have been made.

Different Role

When the commanders are engaged in offensive battle, will they not be telling the chiefs of staff in Washington and London what they want, rather than be taking orders from them? Can the fighting, as distinguished from the preparatory, phase of the war be directed by remote control from Washington?

The objection to letting Gen. Marshall command the armies he has created is that it deprives the President and Congress of his capacity to advise them by his daily presence. This is undoubtedly an objection. It arises, however, not from a conspiracy but from the fact that no man can be in two places at once.

Certainly we cannot accept the view that the role played by Washington and by Grant, by Napoleon and by Foch, is a demotion.

It has been bad enough to drag the name of one eminent American general into partisan and factional politics during this war and any attempt to drag Gen. Marshall's name into politics also will be strongly resented and resolutely resisted.

44 Useful Years

Our Other Great Service Club, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Prepares for Annual Meeting.

By DAMON RUNYON

THERE are two great organizations of American war veterans, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Their general purpose is identical, in that they are both dedicated to promoting the interests of men who served the nation in time of war. The Legion and the V. F. W. are descendants of the Grand Army of the Republic which set the pattern for organizations of this nature.

The Grand Army, now reduced to a few aged men, was organized by the veterans of the federal army after the Civil war. It was at one time large in membership and powerful in influence. The V. F. W. came into existence 44 years ago, or soon after the Spanish-American war and is therefore one of the oldest of the veterans' organizations.

It differs from the American Legion in one important point. The Legion, until this war, was confined exclusively to veterans of the war I and was supposed to be a "last war" organization, to go out of existence with the passing of the last member. Recently it has broadened the scope of its membership to include veterans of World war II, while the Veterans of Foreign Wars has always taken in veterans who saw service overseas in the waters contiguous to foreign shores.

IT includes men who fought in Cuba and the Philippines, and who marched with Von Waldersee to the relief of Pekin in the Boxer rebellion. It has members who served in our various expeditionary forces to Nicaragua, Haiti and elsewhere and in World war I, and it is admitting veterans of World war II in large numbers.

Prior to Pearl Harbor, the V. F. W. had a membership of less than 500,000 but as the organization makes ready for its 44th annual convention in New York City the last three days of this month its leaders predict it will eventually have a roll of 3,000,000 members. They assert that as of Sept. 1, the records of the V. F. W. show it has admitted 100,000 World war II men overseas.

This claim seems somewhat surprising, but it is explained by Robert T. Merrill of Havre, Mont., commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., who says a large percentage of the World war II members are either the sons or the younger brothers of A. E. F. veterans who joined the V. F. W. after World war I. Another large percentage is composed of boys who were the proteges of local V. F. W. posts that sponsored Boy Scout troops, junior drum corps, bands and drill teams, rifle clubs and athletic groups.

BEFORE these boys left the United States they were provided with membership blanks which they could mail home upon their arrival on foreign shores. This privilege was also made available to men serving in the navy as soon as they were assigned to duty with either the Atlantic or Pacific fleets. In short, the V. F. W. seems to have been mighty forehanded in the rivalry of the veterans' organizations for new members.

Since it speaks exclusively for overseas veterans of all wars, the V. F. W. feels it will have a powerful voice in the shaping of the future of America. At the New York encampment, or convention, which will be a quiet affair, lacking the gay trimmings of non-war years, this thought is expected to be developed in the discussions and definite actions, among which I hope and trust will be approval of my plan to continue the pay of the veterans for not less than a year after discharge.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

DEAR NEPHEW: Just got back this morning from a day's visit with your Uncle Fred. We had a real good time together. I always aim to make these little jaunts to my nearby relatives so I get there after breakfast and come home after breakfast the next morning. I think that way you're appreciated more.

It's a funny thing about your Uncle Fred and me. As boys and young men we used to swipe on each other all the time. He's older, you remember, and used to pull his age on me. The fight back and this went on so long that by the time I left home to get married we had an active dislike for each other.

But since then, down through the years Fred and I have been discovering each other's good qualities. We neither of us could admit the other one had any until we got out of each other's hair. But Fred seems to be real fond of me now, and I know that I have become fond of him.

That's probably the way things are going to be on a big scale when we get to be one big happy family after the war. I don't take any stock in the theory that the nations will love each other to pieces when they get to know each other better.

Our soldiers in Australia aren't half so twittery about that faraway place as they used to be when it was a name in the geography book. Those south sea islands they used to hear about are a pain in the neck. The picturesque coves and islands and ports they wondered about have turned out to be down-at-the-heel dumps crawling with filth and populated with people preoccupied with the great international sport of parting the Yankee and his money. At least that's what the boys tell me. For me, of course, the world is still an oyster. I've never seen any of it farther west than Kansas City or east of the Statue of Liberty. I'm still a pink-skinned internationalist shedding sweetness and light like a bride giving off flower petals and perfume.

But when they start loading me into airplanes and dumping me out here, there and everywhere all over the earth, I'll lose my illusions. So will the natives, though I'm a lot more attractive sample of American civilization at its best than the school teachers who used to represent us abroad. What I'm getting at is that familiarity may breed contempt in the post-war world, they're talking about where we will practically be living in each other's laps. Instead of war every quarter of a century as the result of not understanding each other, it might turn out that when we see a lot of each other we'll have war all the time. It's something to consider.

WHEN WILL THIS WAR BE OVER?

A FATTISH MAN we overheard in a Pullman diner said it would be over some time during the week of November 11.

He'd talked to "a man who knew a man who was high up in the army" who'd said the Allies were planning to terminate the war on the 25th Anniversary of the Armistice.

The fattish man doesn't know.

A woman, who is president of a literary club in a medium-sized town in Colorado, says the war will be over in April, 1944.

This is (we quote her) "just a year after the fall of Tunisia, which is about the time it ought to take us to beat Hitler and clean up on the Japs."

The lady doesn't know.

The fact is that nobody can look into a crystal ball and tell when this war is going to end. Nobody, not even the General Staff, can look at the war maps, survey the disposition of troops, weigh our might against the enemy's might, and tell when this war will end.

There's only one thing we can be sure of—just this one thing:

This war will end sooner if everybody on our side—and that includes you—pitches in and does everything he can to help end it. "Everything" means, among other jobs, buying all the War Bonds you can afford. All.

Your government is asking every citizen to purchase—during September—$100 extra in War Bonds. At least $100 over and above what he has been buying.

Does this sound like a lot to you? Well, the only answer is our men need a lot. A General Sherman tank still costs $90,000; a Flying Fortress still costs $450,000.

You can buy your extra $100 worth, can't you? If you think you can't, read over every story in today's paper that tells about some soldiers, some sailors, some marines, some merchant seamen dying somewhere in this war-ripped world.

And remember—they're dying for you.

"The best-dressed girl in the barracks"

WHO is she?... Hollywood's newest glamour queen? New York's latest cafe society thrill? Guess again! Our heroine is—the girl next door.

Yes, she certainly looks as though she just stepped off the train from New York. In fact, her clothes are fresh from New York. But she didn't go there to get them. She stays right here in town and lets Jonas do her New York shopping for her.

Most stores send buyers to New York just a few times a year. But Jonas' buyer lives there. When a new dress, coat, hat or bag hits Fifth Avenue, our buyer sees to it that it turns up here at Jonas' at the same time. There's usually just one little difference: the price. We make it easy for Judy O'Grady to dress like the Colonel's lady—even on a corporal's pay.

The dark dress is of supple velvateen in rich fall colors, trimmed with lace dickie: $8.95...

The lighter dress of rich rayon crepe, features flowing neckline on the bodice, and two perky bows at the softly gathered waistline: $7.99...

Felt drawstring bag: $2.99...

The classic suit-dress (two pieces) is of spun Tuxe rayon, with two big pockets and pleated skirt: $8.95... Matte envelope bag: $5.95.

Marion Soldier Gives Magic Show for Africans

Staff Sgt. Marion E. McGinnis of Marion, ball turret gunner on a Flying Fortress, gave an impromptu performance, as an amateur magician recently for a group of natives on the African coast, according to word received from a bomber station in England.

According to the report, the plane landed on the African coast, after participating in a raid on Germany, before returning to the home base in England. Shortly after the landing, Sgt. McGinnis, at the suggestion of the pilot, entertained the natives with an assortment of parlor tricks, and gave several encores of the "old white magic" before the audience was satisfied.

Ohio Ace Missing 16 Days Tells of Unusual Escape

The following story written by Sgt. Harold G. Hall, Marine Corps combat correspondent, was distributed by The Associated Press.

HENDERSON FIELD, GUADALCANAL — (Delayed) — Capt. Sheldon Hall, red-haired Marine pilot, whose plane was shot down while returning from a mission on which he got two Japanese Zeros, returned with a remarkable story after being missed 16 days.

Wounded in the left wrist and fingers by gunfire from the Zero which shot him down, Capt. Hall, whose home was in Ottowa, O., said his plane hit the water traveling fast and the next thing he knew "I was in the water, alongside my inflated rubber boat."

My parachute lay neatly in the center of the inflated rubber boat and my life jacket was inflated also. How I got out of the plane before it sank and did all that I'll never know. I must have been in a sort of a daze.

Late the next day he landed on an island and started exploring it after a night's sleep in the jungle.

"Suddenly I came upon two Japs," he continued. "I had just crossed a ditch and was within three feet of one of them. They were jabbering. They had quite an arsenal of guns hanging around the sentry post. What I wouldn't have given for a hand grenade.

"I ducked down and crawled out of there. I turned back and finally came upon an abandoned native village. I spent five days there. My food was mainly bananas and pawpaws.

"Still seeking signs of life other than Japanese, I traveled farther north. I found another abandoned native village, in which I located some old magazines and literature left by some missionary.

Finally, I made my way to a point where a flying patrol boat rescued me."

A graduate of Findlay college, Findlay, O., Hall is officially accredited as an ace. His record lists six Japanese planes downed in less than three weeks of aerial fighting in the Solomons area.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

TO SOLDIERS' MOTHERS

EDITOR OF THE STAR: I would like to take this opportunity of paying tribute to a great soldier, and an American mother. Yes, a Marion mother, who had two sons in the service of our country, one stationed in far-off China and the younger son in a bombardier school in Texas. Very recently the family was summoned to the bed side of this young soldier, who had become seriously ill.

Because of priority on airplane traveling it was decided that the mother should be the one to go to him, reaching his bedside only a few hours before he passed away. Squaring her shoulders and saluting her God, she began the long journey back to Ohio with the body of her loved one. She was an inspiration to every one who came in contact with her. It was she who consoled family and friends. Heartaches? Of course her heart ached, almost to bursting. But she is a soldier's mother, and herself a good soldier.

So through this mother, we pay tribute to soldiers' mothers all over the world who are making this sacrifice many are being called upon to make. Keep your chin up and your eyes on the Cross. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believed in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

At Jeb Crowell's the other day, we were havin' a glass of beer or two and talkin' about the kind of world there'd be when Peace came.

"Hear they'll have trans-Atlantic airplanes flyin' regular as taxi service," says Ed Carey.

"Yep," says Will Frost, "and television and plastic cars and air-conditioned homes and super-duper highways."

Finally, Doc Mitchell chimes in. "You know," he says, "we're talkin' about the future in terms of luxuries—like air-conditioned houses and television.

"But what really will shape tomorrow's world is what goes on in men's own hearts . . . like tolerance and understanding."

And from where I sit, Doc's right. Whether it's tolerance of another's politics or respect for a neighbor's right to enjoy a glass of beer occasionally, tolerance is a mighty good foundation for a peacetime world.

PLAN JOBS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Employment Representatives Named for Three Cities in Marion Area.

In compliance with instructions issued from the Ohio state office of the war manpower commission, Fred R. Scherff, manager of the local United States employment service and director of the Marion area of the manpower commission, announced today that a representative from each of the county offices had been appointed to aid the service men from this area who are now being released from active duty, to be placed either in their old job or in an essential industry. The following representatives have been appointed, Don A. Tonguette, war veterans representative in Marion, Frank O. Van Sickle of Mt. Gilead and Miss Helen Jones of Kenton.

Mr. Scherff said each representative would have headquarters in the office of their district and would attempt to place the discharged service men as soon as possible. Special registration forms are provided for identifying the veterans and vocational counseling facilities will be available. The employment agencies will cooperate fully with governmental and private counseling services and training agencies in an effort to gear the agencies' operation with the selective service system in providing an orderly return to necessary and suitable civilian jobs.

Under the selective service act, a veteran is legally entitled to reinstatement in his former job provided he files a written application for reinstatement within 40 days after his release from active duty. If he was unemployed when called to duty, or if he does not wish or is unable to return to his former employment, the reemployment committeeman is to refer the veteran to the nearest local office of the United States Employment Service.

I am writing to say how much we in England and in Saltburn in particular appreciate your great kindness in sending the lovely tweed dresses for our women and girls, who, through the fault of their own, are left without clothing. They are well made and of good material.

Your kindly spirit is most touching and were there more of it in the world, there would be no such thing as war.

We send our grateful thanks and cordial greetings and trust that the time is not far distant when you dear people, with us, will welcome your husbands and sons home, after gaining for us a glorious victory and a lasting peace.

MacArthur's View of His War Role Still Unexplained

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

One of the many things the world likes about General Douglas MacArthur is that this great soldier never has posed as being a man of action, but his unusual statement in Australia that however subordinate may be his role in the war, he hopes to play it manfully, leaves one with feelings of deep puzzlement as to why he thought it necessary to issue it.

The general's declaration is wholly cryptic to the American public, and the usual news sources in Washington profess to be equally at a loss. There is no indication of what prompted it beyond the fact that obviously something is troubling him.

Is it that the supreme commander of Army, Naval and Air Forces of the allied nations in the southwest Pacific (he gives it in his full, rather terrific title) feels that he has been in some way belittled? If that is what he thinks, he's wrong for his position in the esteem of the American people is as high as the sky. He is one of our great native heroes and his place in our hall of fame is secure.

All Sorts of Guesses

All sorts of guesses are being made as to exactly what is in MacArthur's mind. But nobody has got closer to it than that apparently he feels he is being circumscribed somehow in carrying out his strategic conception for the Pacific theater. This, as he says, "contemplates massive strokes against only main strategic objectives," which would "obviate the need for storming the mass of islands now in the enemy's possession." One of his most cherished objectives, of course, is recapture of the Philippines.

Many observers think perhaps MacArthur is talking about the coming Burma drive and the appointment of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten as allied commander in southeast Asia. Well, it's hard to see how Mountbatten's appointment could subordinate MacArthur or detract from the latter's command. It might easily be, however, that the staging of the Burma show, which will call for the massing of vast striking-power in the Indian theater might temporarily deprive the general of resources which he would like for his own offensive.

Be all that as may, the allied high command says the Burma show is to go forward. That's in accordance with the general strategy laid out long ago. As things now stand, one of the first things which must be done in the grand offensive against Japan is to drive the Mikado's little men out of Burma and reopen the famous Burma road—China's lifeline to the outside world.

Chinese Fight with Fists

It's one of the miracles of the war that the severance of this communication hasn't already forced the Chinese to capitulate, despite their heroic fortitude. They've in a manner of speaking been fighting with bare fists and tight belts. If the Chinese should be knocked out it would present the allies with bleak prospects.

We are looking to China to supply the fighting men to oust the Japs from the continent, and air bases from which we can operate against the invaders and against Japan itself. We must feed and arm the Chinese. We need Burma as a base, we need its resources,—especially the oil which is so badly wanted for Chinese operations. Vast quantities of supplies must go up the Irrawaddy river from Rangoon on the road to Mandalay, and finally be loaded on trucks which will crawl over that winding highway that leads through the mountains to China.

Eviction of the Japanese from their positions in the Burmese jungles represents a vast operation. It calls for an amphibious expedition which will tax allied resources if it's undertaken before the end of the European war, as we are led to believe is the intention unless Hitler collapses in the near future. Perhaps MacArthur's own operations might be delayed by this, though one would hope that he might see both offensives going at once, thus placing the Nipponese in a vise.

It's about 5,000 miles from the Indian theater to New Guinea where General MacArthur has been doing such grand work, and that's a long, long trail for any one headquarters to cover.

4 KEY JOBS OPEN IN STATE DEPARTMENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — Four key diplomatic assignments all bearing on United States' relations with Russia and the projected Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference — are awaiting executive action.

They are the appointment of

1. A new undersecretary of state.
2. An envoy for the preliminary foreign office discussions at Moscow.
3. A regular ambassador to the Soviet Union.
4. A regular representative of the international Mediterranean committee.

Two of the vacancies — undersecretary and ambassador — do not officially exist as yet, but Sumner Welles has informed diplomatic friends of his resignation as undersecretary and Admiral William H. Standley is expected to relinquish his Moscow post soon, for personal reasons.

Three names have been mentioned for the task of drafting, with Foreign Ministers Vyacheslav Molotov and Anthony Eden, a preliminary American-British-Soviet agreement on war and post-war objectives to be adopted by Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. Secretary of State Hull is not expected to go to Moscow for this preliminary meeting because he is ill-affected by air travel.

WAR FRAUD TRIAL READY FOR DEFENSE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23 — The government neared completion of its testimony today in the war fraud and sabotage trial of the National Bronze and Aluminum Foundry Co. and seven of its former top officials after witnesses declared the plant ignored repeated warnings and actually increased the welding of war plane engine castings.

Maj. Leonard Bernier of the army air force testified yesterday he told National Bronze officials that under no conditions would welded castings be accepted because they could cause airplane failure.

Officials of the Packard Motor Co., which received the castings for use in American and British planes, previously told the jury National Bronze had been warned repeatedly that welding of castings was contrary to army air force specifications.

Joseph S. Katzel, former general clerk in the office of Frank Schmeller, one of the seven defendants, asserted he had been given orders to "notify welders to stop working when Packard officials entered the plant."

A former welder, Elmer Soble, said the number of castings he welded daily increased from 15 to 20 in March to between 50 and 70 in August of 1942.

The indictement specifically accuses the company and seven former officials with "knowingly, wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously" making castings "in a defective manner."

Army Rules Out Pay for Soldier Farm Aids

By The Associated Press

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Sept. 23—Soldiers from Fort Devens, Mass., began today their second week of apple picking in Orange county while orchard owners sought repeal of a war department "no pay" order.

Samuel B. Phelps, manager of the lower Hudson regional market, said the war department had notified growers the soldiers were on "active duty" and therefore ineligible to receive pay other than their army stipends.

Despite the order, Phelps reported, the 112 Fort Devens soldiers in this section are doing "a darn good job."

The war department edict, Phelps said, affects all of the 1,670 soldiers assigned to help New York farmers and canners harvest and process the crops following Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's appeal to George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, for the services of 1,800 Italian prisoners of war to help overcome the labor shortage.

bases, particularly in the Pacific.

"Navy's strategy and tactics," he said, "have always revolved around those weapon-bearers which can hit the farthest and the hardest. In this present war these bearers are aircraft. This is thoroughly understood by all naval officers. Airmindedness in the Navy is by no means the exclusive property of the Navy aviator."

The highlight of the closing session of the 25th annual Legion convention was the presentation of the Legion's distinguished service medal to Admiral King.

Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, received a similar medal Monday, and addressed the convention.

Election of a national commander to succeed Rowe Wating of Memphis, Tenn., was the most important order of business before the convention. The most likely choice appeared to be 31-year-old Warren Atherton, Stockton, Calif., attorney and chairman of the Legion's committee on national defense.

The convention adopted a resolution to press for enactment of a national service law "to assure that manpower for war production and essential civilian activities will be available when and as needed to win the war."

Toledo School Strikers Reduce Pay Demands

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 23—Striking non-educational employes of the city board of education today reduced their demand for salary increases from $30 a month to $20 and rejected a board proposal to reopen schools which have been closed since Sept. 15.

The maintenance personnel also told the board they would work after Jan. 1 at the Sept. 1 wage level if a projected levy fails at the November election, or if the Ohio attorney general rules that the board can not legally borrow money to increase salaries.

The 300 strikers stipulated that any raise granted in excess of $20 a month must be retroactive to Sept. 1, however, if the levy is passed or funds are obtained from any other source. The strikers contend they need more money to meet increased living costs.

ROCKEFELLER CENTER ELEVATOR CARS IDLE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—Thousands of office workers trudged up endless flights of stairs to their jobs today as several hundred maintenance employes of Rockefeller Center continued a walkout begun just before the rush hour last night.

Lobbies of the 12 buildings affected were jammed. In the 70-story RCA building, only two of the elevators were in operation as office workers began to report for the day. Police formed a railing line of more than 1,000 persons.

At the 38-story International building, five passenger cars and one freight elevator were in operation and the lobby was packed.

Negotiations to halt the stoppage ended in a deadlock at 6 a. m. Louis Perkin, attorney for the Association of Building Maintenance Employes of Rockefeller Center, Inc., an insurgent group formed by members of the Building Maintenance Craftsmen (AFL) and workers in the Independent Association of Building and Maintenance employes of Rockefeller Center, said the only difference was "one of arbitration."

He said the walkout was caused by the discharge of "eight or more women cleaners."

The strike affected 27,000 persons regularly employed in the buildings, and from 50,000 to 60,000 daily visitors, the management estimated. Average daily population of Rockefeller Center buildings was estimated at 150,000.

Richwood Plans Bond Auction

The nation's biggest and newest [illegible] at Richwood today announced plans for a bond auction there Saturday night in which it is hoped that the community's $68,000 goal will be equaled if not exceeded.

Similar in nature to auctions held previously in Richwood and other Union county communities, the Richwood auction will offer for sale merchandise which has been donated by merchants in the Union county community.

Tom Navin, chairman of the Lions club committee in charge of plans for the auction, announced that more than 60 items with a total value in excess of $500 have been turned over to the club. Among the donations are a 12-pound ham, case of canned peaches, case of canned corn, two cases of beer, tractor, truck and auto batteries, stock tonic, fencing, an automobile liability and collision insurance policy, an all-wool blanket and a half ton of coal.

The ham and the cases of canned peaches and corn will be offered for sale point free, Chairman Navin said.

WAR LOAN

ing a New York visit, he said the issue at stake in the war effort was "Do the American people want to continue the volunteer plan for financing the conflict.

"There's a lot of short wave propaganda coming from Japan and Germany," Morgenthau said as he started a home drive tour through New York City. "They are trying to break up the drive. The eyes of all the world are upon us."

The drive, he said during an inspection of the Seventh district of the community sales division, was about two-thirds completed "but there still are a lot of dividends to ring."

Nearby Wyandot county today reported 883 persons had made purchases totaling $296,150 toward that county's $1,337,000 goal.

Universal Cooler Over Top

Malloy and Bud Kelly.

John Burke captained the factory team which included four lieutenants, Victor Ward, Jay Clarence Keeton, Robert Cusick and Joe Wilson. Factory solicitors were Helen Andrews, Dick Deerham, Lloyd Hart, George Kelly, Bernice Layman, George Rogers, Carroll Thompson, Frank Zegerella and Bill Everly.

Immediately preceding the auction honor guests present were introduced by F. S. McNeal, president of the company, who served as master of ceremonies for the auction program.

In addition to the movie figures, Mr. McNeal introduced Robert E. White, chairman of the Third War Loan in Marion county; Elmer Schoenlaub, chairman of the county's duration bond organization, the Marion county War Finance Committee, and William C. Doody of Cleveland, a member of the area War Finance staff.

He also introduced Dan Robertson, general manager and vice president of the Universal Cooler Corp. of Canada. Mr. Robertson spoke briefly on Canada's part in the war effort. He said that on Oct. 15 Canadians will launch their fifth victory loan drive. "In that campaign the approximately 11,000,000 residents of the dominion of Canada have been asked to raise $1,200,000,000, or just over $100 for every man, woman and child in Canada."

Canadian Plant's Role

He then reviewed the part played by Canadian employes of the Universal Cooler Corp. in previous bond-selling drives. In the last drive, he said, Universal Cooler's 432 Canadian employes purchased $46,800 worth of bonds although assigned a quota of only $29,300.

"This," he said, "was typical of not only Brandford, where the Canadian Cooler plant is located, but the entire dominion. Canadians are just as sincere as Americans in their hopes of ending the war as quickly as possible and returning to the pastimes of peacetime."

He said that facilities of the Canadian plant no longer center on refrigerating units, but are now totally turned over to the production of vital materials of war. Among its products are vital parts for the now famous Lancaster bomber, the mosquito bomber and also the Curtiss Hell Diver, which had its origin at the Columbus, O., Curtiss-Wright plant but is now also being produced in Canada.

Immediately following Mr. Robertson's brief talk, the auction program started off with a bang as Auctioneer Williams offered for sale a half dozen autographed copies of "The Phantom Filly," a novel on which the technicolor production, "Home in Indiana," is based. The books brought anywhere from $125 a copy to a top of $1,500.

Stars Donate Coats

Next the various members of the movie troupe in turn took part in the auctioning by offering for sale personal belongings. Both Charles Dingle and Hal Roach Jr. contributed sport coats they were wearing. Mr. Dingle's coat, a two-tone blue model, brought $5,500. Mr. Roach's coat went for $1,100.

Mr. Roach conceived the idea of auctioning off questions on Hollywood, which he proposed to answer either during the auction or by a letter upon his return to Hollywood. The idea payed off well. Prizes for the questions ranged from a low of $100 to a top of $12,500, the latter made by William C. Doody of the area bond organization in behalf of an anonymous purchaser.

One man asked Hal, "Do you know Hedy LaMarr?" Hal answered "To tell the truth I do. She is a delightful person."

On a successful bid of $100 a girl worker at Universal Cooler asked Hal, "How does one go about getting in the movies?" He said, "It's a long story, but first one has to have a great deal of talent or a great deal of 'pull.' Besides that it's necessary to have lots and lots of will power, patience and great deal of drive."

Gives His Shirt

Noble "Kid" Chissell, one of the actors featured in "Home in Indiana," auctioned off a sweater, followed with his shirt and then tossed his undershirt into the fight against the axis.

In appreciation of Mr. Williams' services as a bond auctioneer, Harold Grigsby offered for sale a blotter advertising Mr. Williams' auction house. The blotter was sold for $6,000.

Climax of the program came at the conclusion of the auction program when Edward A. Langwish, treasurer of the company, announced that the firm authorized him to purchase $100,000 in G bonds.

Clerk for the auction was Miss Kathryn Burke, who was assisted by Mrs. Tom Bishop.

Relishes Will Pep Up Meals

PICKLED PEARS: Spicy delight for winter meals.

Pickled Pears

Pare ... and ... pears ... Add ... sugar and ... boil ... Heavy syrup ... part of water ... part of sugar and ... quarts.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Food Editor

Relishes will ... to pep up your ... meat ... ster. The pi... quancy of pickles ... spiced, pa... ticularly ... that the Amer... can diet ... cause of ... ration ... tions, now ... seems to be on the statistics side. So start on the late garden offerings and convert them into tasty relishes and delectable pears.

Among the easiest and best of the pickle family are OIL PICKLES. Wipe and ... cucumbers with a damp cloth. Cut ... and soak 3 hours in salt water to cover. Use 2 tablespoons granular salt for each 4 cups cold water. Rinse in fresh cold water and pack in sterilized pint jars. Place 2 slices white onions, sliced thin, in ... diameter) and 1 teaspoon white mustard seed in ... Add ... 2 teaspoons celery seed into ... square; add to 2 cups vinegar and ½ cup water. Simmer covered for 20 minutes. Add ½ cup olive oil and pour over the cucumbers. Fill to overflowing. Seal at once. Store in cool, dark dry place. These will be ready to eat in about 3 weeks.

MUSTARD PICKLES are good to serve with hot or cold meats, fish or fowl. Cover 12 cups sliced pickled cucumbers with ¼ cup salt and 2 quarts cold water. Let stand over night and pour into colander to drain. Mix together 2½ cups sugar, ½ cup mustard, 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon turmeric, 2 teaspoons celery seed and ½ teaspoon curry powder. When well blended add 6 cups vinegar and 2 cups water. Cook 5 minutes over low heat. Stir often. Add the cucumbers and simmer for 35 minutes. It is advisable to set the cooking pan over an asbestos mat to prevent scorching. Stir frequently with long handled wooden spoon. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

If you still have green tomatoes ... make these MAINE PICKLES. Wash and slice (do not peel) one half peck of firm well formed green tomatoes (blossom ends discarded). Sprinkle with ¼ cup salt, arranged in layers with the sliced tomatoes and 3 cups sliced small white onions. Let stand over night. Drain and add 4 cups vinegar, 1 cup water, 1 cup shredded sweet red peppers, 2 tablespoons each white mustard seed and celery seed and 2 3 cup mixed pickle spices. Simmer 10 minutes. Stir frequently. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

UNCOOKED PEPPER RELISH calls for ripe tomatoes. Mix together 12 cups chopped drained red tomatoes, 4 cups chopped cabbage, 3 cups diced celery, 2 cups chopped onions, 2 3 cup chopped green peppers, 5 cups sugar, 3 cups vinegar and 2 teaspoons salt. Let stand 30 minutes, or until sugar is dissolved. Stir several times. Pour into sterilized jars and seal at once.

MELON RIND PICKLES are always in demand. Peel and remove all green and pink portions from the rind of a watermelon. Cut in one-inch cubes. Soak overnight in solution of 4 tablespoons salt to one quart water. Drain. Cover with fresh water and cook until almost tender. Drain rind and make syrup of 4 cups sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 4 teaspoons whole cloves, 8 sticks cinnamon or 4 teaspoons whole spice, ½ teaspoon mustard seed. Tie spices in spice bag, add bag to syrup and heat to boiling. Allow to cool 15 minutes. Add drained watermelon rind and cook until clear and transparent. Remove spice bag, pack in sterilized jars and seal.

Newspaper Ads To Help Anti-Inflation Drive

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 – Advertisers will use thousands of newspaper advertisements in December to aid the government in its anti-inflation campaign, T. S. Repplier of Washington, general manager of the war advertising council, told the insurance advertising conference here.

Repplier said that as one of the 41 campaigns being assisted by the war advertising council, the anti-inflation drive would profit from 100 per cent backing of private industry in selling the government's plan.

Breakfast Now Major Meal

By ALICE DENHOFF

Breakfast has become a very, very important meal. Folks who used to take a light breakfast preparatory to starting the day, now have such a busy day and many are working so hard, that the need for an adequate breakfast has made itself felt. We are alive to the importance of this first meal for setting the tone for the day's effort.

Getting breakfast, though, these days, is not the easiest of tasks. If members of a household have to leave for their jobs from 5:30 in the morning on, it may not be possible for the homemaker to get up and prepare these early meals. The way out of this dilemma is to plan the breakfast and leave it more than half prepared.

Breakfast Suggestions

Here are some suggestions that may aid a situation that has troubled many a homemaker since the war. Fruit, such as grapefruit or sliced orange, may be fixed the night before and stored, well covered in the refrigerator. For juice, have the juicer all clean and ready, since orange juice loses much of its value if is squeezed and stored.

Set trays with dishes and silver needed for breakfast for each early riser. It saves trouble and noise. Have part of a shelf in the pantry set aside as a breakfast shelf and keep on hand the things needed for that meal. Go in for those grand selections of boxed individual cereal servings. Have the toaster on the table, with the bread or muffins to be split and toasted, in the breadbox.

Bran Molasses Muffins

As the weather becomes colder, it is possible to leave our butter or other spreads out, well covered, of course, a procedure that helps make for speed and also makes the spread go further. Work out special treats such as a batch of good muffins that you can make the day before all ready for toasting or reheating next morning. To make 10 bran molasses muffins, sift once a cup of sifted flour, measure, add 3 tablespoons baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt, and sift again. Combine a well-beaten egg, 2 3 cup milk, ¼ cup molasses and 3 tablespoons melted shortening; add to flour mixture, beating only enough to dampen all flour, add one cup bran flakes. Bake in greased muffin pans in 425F., 25 to 30 minutes. For a nice variation, add one cup raisins or finely chopped dates to flour mixture.

State Bank Head Takes Dayton Position

COLUMBUS, Sept. 23 — The election of William L. Hart, superintendent of banks of the state of Ohio, as vice president of the Central Trust Co. of Cincinnati was announced today by Charles W. Dupuis, president.

Hart, a World war veteran who goes to Cincinnati from Columbus, attended Pennsylvania State college and the graduate school of banking at Rutgers university. He has held executive positions in Pennsylvania and Ohio banks. He was president of the Farmers National bank at Salem, O., prior to his appointment in January, 1942 as state superintendent of banks. Hart is married and has three children, one of whom, David W. Hart, is a lieutenant in the Army.

Cattle Feeders End Lull; They're Buying Again

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23—Cattle feeders, who said a few weeks ago they were reluctant to remain in business in view of uncertain beef-price and feed conditions, are buying again.

Furthermore, they've been buying feeder cattle steadily for the past month, says C. J. Mercier, night superintendent of the Kansas City stockyards.

Seventy-five per cent of Monday's nine-year-record run of 45,575 cattle to the stockyards went to feeders, many in New York, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, stockmen said.

After several months on concentrated feeds, the cattle will go back to market as heavier, choice beef animals — in time to help meet a severe springtime beef shortage stockmen have been predicting.

Alexander Hamilton set up the Coast Guard on August 4, 1790, when his Tariff Act was passed, authorizing the building of six revenue cutters to insure the collection of customs.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEW PLASTIC INNER TUBE. Holding a new plastic inner tube for automobiles at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore is pretty Mildred Cook, a company employe. The tube is made of a material called Marvinol and is claimed to be better than rubber. It is airtight, whereas rubber tires are known to lose about two pounds of air per week.

Yanks Elude Nazis for Week

BY JOHN O'REILLY

New York Herald Tribune Correspondent Representing The Combined American Press.

Distributed By The Associated Press

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 19 — (Delayed) — American troops advancing today near the bloody triangle between the Sele and Calore rivers came upon 31 American infantrymen who had been trapped there for a week with Germans all around them.

It developed that these men were a part of a unit which had been over-run by German tanks in the push which caused the Americans to withdraw and consolidate their lines during the the early part of the battle for the Salerno beachhead. They had to remain hidden continually and were almost without food.

Patrols moving up after dawn this morning saw the men walking wearily out of a woods. Their helmets identified them as Americans but their general appearance was one of complete fatigue.

Their uniforms were covered with dirt and sweat. Hollow eyes peered from behind beards stiff with dust. Their knees bent as they walked and although they still clung to their rifles they carried them as though they weighed a ton.

This correspondent happened along as two of them came out of the woods and sank down to rest at the roadside. They were Sergt Vaughn Taylor and Corporal Edward B. Gutkowski. While resting and eating the canned rations the patrols gave them, they told how they and their comrades had lain hidden in the woods along the river for a week.

They dug holes over which they placed branches and leaves. They were out of ammunition and there was nothing else to do but try to escape detection. The Germans kept moving in and guns and tanks were set up less than 200 yards from their hiding place.

For three days they scarcely moved from their holes without anything to eat. At night they crawled to the river for water. After three foodless days they crossed the river at night. There were even more Germans on that side, but they managed to find an Italian garden with nothing in it but popcorn and onions.

They carried the onions and popcorn back to their holes and that was all they had to eat for a week. Then the American artillery offensive to drive out the Germans began.

The 31 Americans stayed in their holes with shells falling all around them. Then wave after wave of medium bombers came over. The area became like a section of hell.

The bombardment finally eased and the Germans began pulling out. They left without discovering that they had been almost lying with their enemies for a week.

Hatch Wants Big Stick Tied to Foreign Policy

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 23 — A demand for a big stick in the Fulbright "lasting peace" resolution was sounded by Senator Hatch (D-NM) today as a senate foreign relations subcommittee met to review a dozen postwar foreign policy proposals.

Hatch, who is not a member of the committee, told reporters he regarded the house-approved Fulbright measure as unsatisfactory because it lacks a definite pledge to use military force to prevent future aggression.

The Fulbright proposal would put congress on record merely as favoring United States participation in "appropriate international machinery" with power adequate to maintain peace.

The proposal to use military force is the keynote of a resolution offered by Hatch and Senators Hill (D-Ala), Ball (R-Minn) and Burton (R-Ohio), which the subcommittee is considering.

FUNERAL IN ST. LOUIS

TO HIKE DEBT LIMIT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 23—Congress may be asked soon to boost the national debt limit to $300,000,000,000. Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the house appropriations committee told reporters today the present rate of government spending is approaching the present statutory limit of $210,000,000,000.

Denver, Col., houses more federal government offices than any city in the United States except Washington, D. C., and hence is known as the "western capitol."

EX-JUDGE ON STAND IN BRIBERY TRIAL

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, O., Sept 23 — Former Probate Judge Harry E. Miles was called today for cross-questioning in the trial of T. A. Billingsley, local attorney and member of the state racing commission, charged with offering a bribe in the settlement of an estate.

The former jurist testified yesterday that during a conversation with Billingsley he (Miles) agreed to allow $10,900 in attorney fees in the administration of the Marker estate and would receive $1,500 for so doing. Billingsley, attorney for the administrators of the estate, is accused of offering Miles a $1,500 bribe to influence his decision.

Miles is awaiting an appeal hearing on a conviction last Feb. 8 of soliciting a bribe. At his own trial, both he and Billingsley testified no bribe had been solicited or offered, as did Joseph A. Menke, co-administrator of the estate, who was indicted jointly with Billingsley on the bribery charge.

2 Men Who Tried To Kill Mussolini Released from Prison

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

Representing the Combined American Press, Distributed by Associated Press.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY, Sept 19 — (Delayed) — Two men who many years ago attempted to assassinate Benito Mussolini and were condemned to life imprisonment have been released by allied authorities from notorious penal islands but one of them by a ghastly mischance was killed by a German shell just seven days after he had been set at liberty for the first time in 16 years.

The unfortunate victim was the less well-known of the two. He was an anarchist named Lucetti who, in the early days of the Fascist regime, threw a bomb at the duce but missed.

At that time there was no death penalty in Italy.

Lucetti was confined on the island of Santo Stefano and was freed by allied forces Sept. 10. He was taken to the island of Ischia and was awaiting transportation when he was killed by a German shell Sept. 17.

Far more famous was Col Tito Zaniboni who was on the island of Ponza when he was liberated.

Zaniboni was one of Italy's world war heroes. He was colonel of a regiment of Alpine troops which all combatants in the last war recognized as one of the best fighting units in the world. He had every decoration for valor that Italy would give.

From the beginning of Fascism Zaniboni declared against it.

In 1927 he made up his mind that the best thing he could do for Italy would be to kill Mussolini. He bought the finest high-powered hunting rifle with telescope sights.

Zaniboni planned his attempt on Mussolini's life for months.

One of the few places the duce could be relied upon to appear in public during the first half of the Fascist regime was the balcony of Palazzo Chigi, which Mussolini used to use as his prime ministerial office.

Zaniboni finally managed to rent a room about 100 yards from the Chigi balcony and overlooking it. He had practiced with his hunting rifle until he could hit a dime at 100 yards. Mussolini was a doomed man. Zaniboni lived in his room and waited for Mussolini to come out.

It was not to be. Zaniboni had entrusted his secret to one man, but that was one man too many.

His friend became panic-stricken at the last minute and just before Mussolini appeared on the balcony agents of Mussolini's secret police broke into his room and overpowered him.

Of Zaniboni's 16 years in prison, three were spent on San Stefano, which Italians know as their Devil's island.

DENIES LEGION CHARGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—Charging that the American Legion "has inadvertently been used to carry on a political and partisan smear campaign," Rep. Hamilton Fish (Rep-NY) reiterated today his denial that he had permitted his congressional frank to be used to spread un-American propaganda. Fish, a Legionnaire, made his remarks in a statement by him in answer to a resolution adopted by the legion at its convention in Omaha yesterday.

Bucyrus Owned Two-Year Old Sets New World's Half-Mile Track Record at Delaware Fair

DELAWARE, Sept. 23—A new record for two-year-old trotters over a half mile track was made in the Grand Circuit program here yesterday when Eva's Boy, owned by Walter J. Michael of Bucyrus, won the $5,000 Delaware Gazette two-year-old stake in straight heats in 2:07½ and 2:07¾.

The Bucyrus-owned son of Volomite and Eva's Girl, piloted by Curly Smart of Delaware, established a new two-year-old trotting record for two heats and also equalled the fastest race heat of the season by a two-year-old trotter in winning the first heat in 2:07½. The mark tied Yanke Maid's performance at the mile Kite track at Old Orchard, Me.

The colt was purchased last fall at the Walnut Hall Farm sales at Lexington, Ky. It is one of four horses owned by Mr. Michael, who together with Joe Neville of Delaware, owns one of Ohio's leading stables.

Previously this year Eva's Boy captured the Horsemen's Futurity for two-year-old trotters, worth $18,200, and the $3,000 Harriman cup stake at the North Randall meeting in July, in addition to several victories at a number of Ohio county fairs. In Bucyrus this morning, Owner Michael said Eva's Boy has lost only once in his last 10 starts. The single defeat was administered at Carthage last week by Enac, driven by Rupe Parker and owned by Bill Cane, proprietor of the Good Time Stables at Goshen, N. Y.

Mrs. Forrest Burright of Oregon, Ill., set a record for women drivers by pushing Luckyette to win the second heat of the condition trot in 2:04¾ time, a full second under the former record marked up by Dale Hanover two years ago at Middletown, N. Y., under the handling of Mrs. E. R. Harriman of New York. Luckyette also won first money in the trot.

Bob Hope paced first in straight heats to win the classified pace and Red Go also won the 20 pace in straight heats. In the condition pace, Jackie Grattan finished first in two of three heats to win top honors.

BREWERS AND TRIBE BEAT BIRDS, HENS

By The Associated Press

The pennant-winning Milwaukee Brewers and the second place Indianapolis Indians evened accounts last night in the American association playoffs, Milwaukee whipping Columbus 8-6 while the Indians defeated Toledo 6-3.

For seven innings the third place Red Birds appeared to be on the way toward a second consecutive win over Milwaukee, having grabbed a 4 to 3 lead. But in the eighth the Brewers filled the bases against Ken Burkhart and picked up a run when Francis Barrett, who relieved Burkhart, walked Julio Acosta. Then, with the bags still loaded, Hershel Martin slammed a home run, putting the Milwaukeean in front 8 to 4.

The Birds staged an abortive two-run rally in the ninth off Acosta, who received credit for the victory.

Grabbing a four-run lead in the first inning off southpaw Bill Seinsoth, Indianapolis was never headed in downing the fourth place Hens.

Tonight the teams play at Columbus and Toledo where they will finish their best three-out-of-five series.

Jim Bagby Rebels Against $100 Fine Given by Boudreau

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Sept. 23—The major league's youngest manager faced his first player rebellion today after pitcher Jim Bagby announced he was "tired of being made the goat" and was willing to be traded and take a pay cut "to get away from Boudreau."

The Cleveland Indians' slim right hander and 16-game winner told a Cleveland baseball writer last night he had asked to be traded after Manager Lou Boudreau had fined him $100 for being out of condition.

"A few weeks ago he left me behind when the team went to Chicago," Jim said, "and the statement he gave to the press was that I needed a rest. Well, do you know what that rest cure cost me? Just $100. He fined me that for being out of condition. That was when I went to Peckinpaugh (club vice president) and told him to trade me.

"How can Lou say I was out of condition?" he continued. "Look at the records and you'll find I've pitched more innings than any other man in the league. Is that the record of a guy that's out of shape? He says I don't do enough running. I say I run as much as any of our pitchers, more than some. Why does he pick me out as an example?"

The Tribe's 26-year-old pilot admitted "Jim and I haven't seen eye-to-eye on some things," but added "I'd be silly to trade him unless I could get something of equal value for him. I'd rather have a disgruntled winner than a happy loser."

Boudreau's benching of Jeff Heath a few weeks ago provided the first indication that all was not peaceful in the wigwam. The slugging outfielder was removed from the lineup for criticizing an order to "take" the first pitch

Peck Not Interested in Trading Bagby

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23—Roger Peckinpaugh, vice president of the Cleveland Indians, said today he would "rather have Jim Bagby sit at home than make a trade for him that would turn out badly for us."

The Indians' official made that comment after the Cleveland pitcher told a baseball writer in Boston he had asked to be traded and was willing to take a pay cut "to get away from" Manager Lou Boudreau.

"Enough trades turn out badly by accident," Peckinpaugh commented. "I'm not going to make a bad one intentionally. There are ways of making a fellow play ball for you. The fact that a player asks to be traded doesn't mean much to me. If we could make a good deal, that might alter the case."

Harding To Brush Up on Passing Attack for Game with Columbus West Here Friday

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

In the second night practice of the current season at Harding stadium tonight, considerable emphasis is expected to be placed on sharpening the passing attack of the Harding High Presidents to a point where it may become a deadly and valuable instrument in the bag of Doctors Vic Derris and Joe Petrich.

One additional play was given the Prexy footballers in this week's drills and was a pass play, according to Head Coach Derris. With unbooked for aerial strength on top of the already proven Harding ground potency, Columbus West's Cowboys are likely to have an extremely bewildered and confused defense tomorrow night.

Of course, the number one Prexident weapon against Mansfield Saturday night was the steady, running game which eventually carried the locals to their decisive touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Two Out of Three

However, two passes out of three attempts were completed against the Tygers for gains of more than 10 yards each. Harding did not want to take any unnecessary risks by throwing a strictly passing offense against the Tygers or even try more than a few experimental heaves. However, those two pass completions gave onlookers the impression that the '43 Prexies have the foundation in ability and teamwork to develop a first-class aerial attack.

Tonight's final practice prior to the West encounter at the local stadium tomorrow night is set to begin about 7:30 and probably will extend until about 8:15 or 8:30. The West-Harding contest will get under way at approximately 8 p. m.

The West Cowboys opened their season last Friday night quite inauspiciously by dropping a 29 to 2 decision to Springfield. Seven points were accounted for by the Springfield outfit in the second quarter, six in the third, and seven in the final stanza. West could tally only in the last period on a safety.

Virgil Crawford, Cowboy left guard was the lineman responsible for the capital city team's two markers. Crawford is a former Marion boy and a junior at West. He tips the scales at 152 pounds.

Five lettermen are expected to be facing the President for the opening kick-off tomorrow night. They are Matero Alban, center, Maurice Embleton, tackle, Charles Hall, end, Ira Blackwell and Dick Gilmore, halfbacks.

In 1942 Game

Gilmore will be remembered by local football partisans as the boy who was continually getting into Harding's hair last year with his fleet runs or sure-fire passes.

Vern Orth, first-string Prexy tackle, was out of action for early practices this week due to a minor knee injury, one of the few suffered by the Prexies since fall workouts started Sept. 7. However, Coach Dorris said the 195-pound senior lineman undoubtedly would be fit and rarin' to go against the Cowboys tomorrow night.

John Gast, senior guard, has withdrawn from the Harding squad. His departure again cuts the President roster to an even 33 pigskinners. To fill out three lines and three backfileds Jack Colgrove, back from Thomas A. Edison High school, has been moved up to take over Gast's guard duties. Ralph Loreno, sophomore back, recently was added to the squad.

Reports from Ashland High's grid camp have it that the Hilltopers are being troubled with an outstanding line weakness, which seems to be as noticeable as the county courthouse. The questionable position is not specified by Ashland grid insiders.

Contrary to the Ashland problem of having to plug a gaping hole in the line is the predicament of Coach Kenny Sampson of Upper Sandusky, who is building up his backfield for the tilt with Bucyrus Friday night. Charley Balduf, fast-moving Upper back, who starred in the Richwood Tiger game last week, has suffered a recurrence of an old back injury and probably will not be able to start against the Redmen. For once the Wyandot county boys are being given a slight edge over their traditional rivals over the county border line. Bucyrus, you know, was soundly thrashed by Tiffin Columbian, 20 to 0, last Friday.

TOO EXCITED — Blond Agnes Rifner, New Castle, Ind., High school drop kicking specialist practices after missing on two tries for points after touchdown. The coach attributed her failures to excitement and stage fright but says he will use her again in New Castle's next game.

Georgia Tech Coach Singing the Blues

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Sept. 23 — The weather was grey, and the atmosphere around Georgia Tech's training headquarters was even greyer.

"I don't believe in hollering," said Bobby Dodd, No. 1 aid to Coach Bill Alexander, "but we don't have half as much out here as a lot of people seem to think we have."

"We play North Carolina next Saturday — one of the top teams of the country," continued Dodd, "and we'll have both our first and second string centers on the bench. George Manning, our captain, aggravated an earlier injury by bursting a blood vessel in his leg while going upstairs. Charlies Hoover, who played for Vanderbilt last season, is out with a knee injury.

"Our backfield is composed of three scrub players from last year and a third-string tailback.

"North Carolina has more than 90 players, including 40 backs, with navy transfers three and four deep who were varsity starters elsewhere last year. Duke is the same way."

Yanks Need Three Games for Title

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees can clinch their seventh American league championship in eight years tomorrow.

Apparently realizing they were running behind previous years, the Bombers bowled over the Detroit Tigers 4-2 yesterday and now need only three more victories to eliminate the Washington Senators and two to dispose of Cleveland.

The Yanks showed adequate authority in taming the Tigers with Charley Keller hitting a three-run homer, his 29th of the year, in the first inning and Hank Borowy pitching seven-hit ball for his sixth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games.

The Senators sailed to their 10th straight triumph in the first part of a twilight-night doubleheader, 4-0. But they were shelled to a 9-1 defeat in the second game as Denny Galehouse pitched a six-hitter.

Cleveland's game at Boston was postponed, making a doubleheader today.

In the National league Mort Cooper chalked up his 21st success against eight defeats as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3.

The Dodgers' defeat tightened the National league scramble for second place as Cincinnati split a double bill with the New York Giants. Elmer Riddle came up with his 20th triumph in the opener, which the Reds took 4-2. In the second game the Giants routed Bucky Walters with a five-run seventh inning and won 10-4.

Boston beat Pittsburgh 5-3 as the Phillies halved a pair of games with the Chicago Cubs. Claude Passeau took the first affair, 5-1 and Al Gearheauser hurled a six-hit 3-0 shutout in the second game.

In the other American league action the Chicago White Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics twice, 6-0 and 2-1.

DEACON NOMINATES VANDER MEER TODAY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23 — Cincinnati's Reds, getting nowhere in their try for second money in the National league, are calling on Johnny Vander Meer tonight to stop the New York Giants.

One Hugh East, a rookie, will pitch for the last-place Giants, who kept the Reds out of second yesterday by splitting a doubleheader. A double win would have put the Reds a half game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to St. Louis.

Elmer Riddle held the Giants for the 4-2 opening victory, his 20th of the year, but Bucky Walters blew up in the nightcap and the Giants had it 10-4.

Estel Crabtree's homer, coming after Max Marshall had singled in the eighth, clinched the first game. Rookie Bill Voiselle held the Reds to four hits, but two straight errors by shortstop Buddy Kerr helped the Reds to their other two runs, both unearned, in the seventh.

Walters had the Giants 4-2 going into the seventh of the second game, but he lost his control and before Joe Beggs could stop it, five runs were in. The Giants got three more in the ninth.

URGES PENSIONERS TO WORK

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 23—Because of the farm manpower shortage, physically able recipients of state old age pensions "would be doing their patriotic duty" in helping harvest the corn crop, Karl R. Babb, state aid for the aged chief, said today. Such earnings, Babb said, "would not affect the recipient's monthly awards from the state." Of the 132,000 old age assistance recipients, about 5,000 men might be able to assist with harvesting he estimated.

ACT TO LIFT FOOD BURDEN FROM U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — Plans for stimulated food production abroad so this country will not have to feed the world have been perfected by the war mobilization board and are now on President Roosevelt's desk.

Announcement of the global work to be undertaken may be forthcoming this week end, along with an executive order designating which federal agency is to administer the huge program.

The job may go either to the office of economic warfare, which already is conducting large-scale purchasing operations abroad, or to the agriculture department with its foreign bureau and corps of experienced economists. The state department probably will have general supervision insofar as foreign policy is concerned.

Eventually the program likely will be integrated into some united nations organizations in line with the allied policy of sharing international responsibilities.

This would be in keeping, too, with United Nations plans to organize relief and rehabilitation work for war-wrecked areas on a worldwide basis in November. Distribution of food produced undoubtedly will be on of the the functions of the relief agencies.

GRAINS SLUMP IN QUIET TRADE TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 — Grains slumped in quiet trading today, influenced by a break which at one time extended to more than 3 cents in wheat at Winnipeg. Wheat and oats were off fractionally but rye dropped as much as a cent before staging a modest rally.

—The Commodity Credit Corporation announced it would give priority in sale of its feed wheat to counties in southwestern states where a drought has reduced feeding supplies. From Kansas City, the war food administration reported mills were experiencing difficulty in obtaining CCC wheat in sufficient quantities.

Grange Schedules War Bond Auction

Members of the United Grange, one of the larger Grange organizations in the county with 170 families, will hold an auction of fruits, vegetables, poultry and eggs Tuesday night at the Claridon school. L. M. Wickersham will be the auctioneer.

Proceeds will be put into war bonds which will be used later for the buying or building of a Grange home. Since the fund for the home had its beginning two years ago, three $100 bonds have been purchased toward it. Junk was gathered and sold to realize two of the bonds, and a white elephant sale netted enough for the other. Ferdinand Lawrence, master of the Grange, said that with the auction Tuesday night, they plan to get enough money for another $100 bond.

The Grange has met its quota at $1,000.

Town Metting To Be a Transcription First Time

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—America's Town Meeting, with audiences and speakers in both New York and London joining the discussion, will be relayed from transcriptions rather than by "live" pickups.

Among reasons for this departure from precedence is the time difference, 8:30 p. m. when the program goes on the BLC, being 1:30 a. m. in London.

Topic for the first program Sept. 30 is "How Must We Deal with Germany after the War to Win the Peace?"

The Oct. 7 broadcast will put the same question as it affects Japan.

HOGS AND CATTLE MOVING TO MARKET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—Hog and beef cattle are beginning to move marketwards in considerably greater volume than during August and early September, but don't get excited. The increase doesn't necessarily overshadow larger meat rations for civilians.

Following a normal seasonal course, the movement of beef cattle from western ranges has shown a substantial upturn in the last 10 days. Reports from 12 principal markets showed receipts last week totaling 268,500 head, or about 14,000 more than the record receipts of the corresponding week last year.

Receipts so far this week are running even further ahead of a year ago.

But this is not always a true indicator of the beef supply. Some of the cattle always move on to midwestern farms for further feeding and fattening.

Predictions have been made in government as well as trade circles that the portion moving to feed lots this year would be smaller than usual because of a narrow profit margin in feeding. These predictions, if borne out, would mean a larger supply of beef this fall than if a normal portion of the cattle moved to feed lots for fattening. Feed-lot cattle do not become available for slaughter until late in the winter or early the following summer.

Market Fails in Effort To Regain Stability of Recent Days.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 — The stock market tried to regain its stability in today's early dealings but sufficient selling cropped up in mail orders, motors, steels and assorted leaders to turn the tide definitely downward in the latter part of the proceedings.

While activity slackened at intervals after the start, losses of fractions were well in the majority near the fourth hour and scattered setbacks of 1 to around 3 points were in evidence.

Prominent on the retreat were Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, United Aircraft, Douglas, Westinghouse and U. S. Rubber.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I CAUGHT back an excited exclamation as I realized the full import of my father's question. If he were sending for Lillian, he must have high hopes of Marion's rescue within a short time—sooner than he thought it wise to transmit to Ronald, for fear of the effect disappointment over possible failure might have upon the harassed lad.

From somewhere within me I pumped up the ability to answer his query calmly and rationally.

Nurse Is Competent

"Why not?" I queried in matter-of-fact tones. "Miss Whitlock is the type of nurse who can manage beautifully a dozen things—or persons—at once. And she has been long enough at the farm to study the children, Mother Graham and Katie, to say nothing of Jim and the Thorr family, and I'm sure she'll have them all under control.

"I'm wondering," I went on hesitatingly," if Lillian's coming away may not lighten Miss Whitlock's burden instead of making it heavier. I imagine she devotes many precious minutes to keeping Lillian's courage up."

"I don't think your imagination is working very well in this instance," my father said smiling. "I agree with you that Lillian's presence at the farm is desirable only for her own peace of mind. But before I sent for her I wanted to ask your opinion about leaving your children with Miss Whitlock."

"I approve of the arrangement," I said definitely.

"Then that is all I need to know," he said. "I am not going to telephone her, for the less said about this over the telephone the better, and I have no doubt the youngsters know Marion's mother is at the farmhouse. But I told her when she went away that she was to hold herself in readiness to return whenever I should need her, although I made it plain that a summons did not mean I had any especial hope for Marion's speedy rescue. So she will not be startled when a messenger appears from me with instructions that she return with him."

I had a feeling that part of all this was for my benefit, and that he did not intend to raise my hopes either, no matter what he was planning.

Suddenly I took the bit between my teeth and ran away.

"Father!" I said breathlessly.

"Yes, darling?" he queried.

"Won't you please remember something?" I asked, talking swiftly to keep my courage up. "I am not Lillian. While I am very fond of Marion, I have not the terrible urge of tragedy upon me that Lillian has. I am trying to help in every way I can, without questioning, but I wish you would please consider that I am neither a child, nor an emotional woman."

Eyes Are Intent

His eyes were intent in their gaze at me, but I noticed with an upswing of my pulses that he was not frowning. He waited a second that seemed an hour, however, before he made any answer to my outburst. Then:

"I suppose what you are trying to tell me," he said at last, "is that you wish to know the details of Marion's projected rescue and what I think of the prospects."

"That is only part of it," I replied. "I do not wish to know your plans until you are ready to give them out. But I do wish to be given the same knowledge of them that Harry and Dicky have."

His tender smile illumined his face.

"Perhaps unconsciously I have been protecting you a bit too much," he said. "And I can see your point of view. After all, I have to call upon you frequently for aid in my plans, and I probably will have to lean very heavily upon you when Marion's rescue appears imminent. So, will you be satisfied if I promise you that Harry, Richard and yourself will be apprised of my plans at the same time, and that no one of you will have any more knowledge than the other two?"

Madge Is Satisfied

"More than satisfied," I told him gratefully. "And, I do not want you to think, Father—"

"I am thinking nothing that is not exceedingly creditable to you," he said brusquely, "so suppose we say no more about it. Instead, tell me,—how much more time do you think Ronald is going to take over that letter?"

"At the rate he was going, he ought to be over here any minute."

"I hope so," he said, "I want to get him safely out of the hotel before Harry arrives."

Foreign Body in Ear

THE BABY is sitting on the kitchen floor helping mother, and a pea or bean drops on the floor and baby picks it up and finds it just fits in the ear, so in it goes. And then trouble starts. Why does the baby do it? Heaven knows. One who was old enough to understand the question replied, "I didn't know any other place to put it." Which is about as good an answer as any.

While it is usually babies who stuff foreign bodies in the ear, the practice is by no means confined to them. Some show-off starts to impress his girl at a party and before you know it he has a small button in his external auditory canal.

The situation is a serious one and requires a doctor to handle it. Clumsy efforts of parents or friends often result in simply pushing the foreign body further into the ear, getting it wedged there, and even perforating the drum. One of the worst things to do is to squirt water into the ear with the idea of washing out the invader. In the case of a pea or bean or a seed the water simply makes the object swell up and get tighter stuck than ever. One ear specialist instills alcohol in such cases in order to shrink the vegetable matter.

Even with the aid of an otoscope with which he can look in the ear and with a light see the whole situation, a doctor may not be able to get out the foreign body immediately. It causes an inflammation of the skin which is brought on also, by the way, by the clumsy attempts of the layman aforementioned and the ear swells up, tightening its grip on the object. It may be necessary to apply an icebag to the ear for several hours before the swelling has subsided enough to permit operative procedures.

Sometimes no one is to blame but by bad luck an insect crawls into the external ear and makes a nice, warm nest. Wood ticks commonly are the offenders, the victim being a camper. It is good practice for the doctor to kill the insect first by instilling a drop or two of chloroform before starting removal because in the case of wood ticks, they hang on. That much chloroform will not injure or blitser the ear drum.

The complications of foreign bodies may be as serious as a bad ear infection. One extraordinary case is related of an eraser from the end of a lead pencil removed from the ear. One year later he ear started to discharge and finally a radical mastoidectomy was done and a fragment of the eraser removed.

The lesson is the old one not to put anything smaller than your elbow into your ear. Children have a natural predilection for stuffing things in the ear so they have to be watched.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. P.:—Who invented ice cream and ice cream freezers?

Answer: This subject is as vague and full of hearsay as the one about who invented bathtubs. Dolly Madison is credited with popularizing ice cream as the ideal American dessert, and Thomas Masters with the invention of the first hand-operated ice cream freezer. But where or when he lived, I have yet to learn.

M. F. G.: Is the iron content of beef, pork and lamb about the same as in liver? If so, why the higher price for the latter?

Answer: There is very little iron in any kind of meat. You may be thinking of the iron in spinach, but too good a case can be made of spinach as not even to be an iron content.
